MPT OBSERVES VIGILANCE AWARENESS WEEK

Vigilance Awareness Week was observed by the Officers and staff of MPT from 29th October 2018 to 3rd November 2018. Dr. E. Ramesh Kumar IAS, Chairman MPT was the Chief Guest at the inaugural function. In his enlightening address to the Officers and staff of MPT, the Chairman said, 'Celebrations like Vigilance Awareness Week are measures to inculcate and enlighten all the stakeholders in the process, which includes the employees of MPT, Public, the Civil Society, and the Media. A vast nation like India with unlimited wants and limited resources, it is important to use the resources in a judicious and substantive manner. For this I believe transparency is important in an era of transparent governance and responsive and responsible administration'.

Justice Avinash Pundalik Lavande, (Retd. High Court Judge) was the Guest of Honour and Keynote Speaker on the theme 'Eradicate Corruption –Build a New India'. In his keynote address he touched on the various aspects of corruption and how it can be curbed. He said, 'In short, if you see the definition of Corruption, it is nothing but moral deterioration. During the last 70 years after independence, we have seen a lot of development in our country in all fields, whether it is social, economic, nuclear science, or education. But unfortunately the levels of corruption have also not come down. It should be reversed, when development takes place, corruption should come down. When we speak of corruption, normally it is seen in terms of monetary corruption. But it is not so, corruption can be of two types, monetary corruption and intellectual corruption. When we speak of corruption, the act of corruption is not complete, unless there are two parties there. There can't be one sided corruption, on one end there is a person who receives, and on the other side there is a person who gives' he said.

The function began with the lighting of the traditional brass lamp at the hands of the Chief Guest, the Guest of honour and Special invitee Shri G.P. Rai, Dy. Chairman, MPT and Shri G.M. Gadkar, AXEN (Vigilance). Shri Gadkar, welcomed the gathering and highlighted the importance of observing the Vigilance Awareness Week.

Welcoming the gathering, Dr. Nimish Pillai emphasized on the three important categories of body weight, i.e. Normal weight, over weight and obesity. 'Obesity is directly linked to health issues and maybe even early death. There is a further entity called 'morbid obesity' which one has to avoid reaching. Weight is directly linked to our eating habits and for this reason we must burn the extra calories that we consume he said.

Dr. Namrata Vengurlekar, the resource person with the help of an audio visual presentation spoke eloquently about the social and medical implications of obesity. She explained to the participants the various dangers of being obese and the impact it can have on one's health parameters. She said it is not a healthy trend to be overweight or obese. And one must keep a check on one's daily eating habits and physical activity to lead a healthy life. 'Eat healthy and stay healthy' was the message she conveyed throughout the session. In a very downright manner Dr. Vengurlekar explained to the participants the dangers of living a sedentary lifestyle with no physical activity of any kind and overeating. Around 60 Officers and staff of MPT participated in the program.

The interactive session enabled the participants to freely put forth their views as well as to ask certain questions to clarify their doubts about health issues, especially those concerning obesity and heart related medical issues. Dr. Namrata, clarified the queries and issues raised by the participants in layman's terms to the satisfaction of all. She impressed upon the participants to do periodic health check up once one is above 40 years of age. Finally, she reminded all the participants that 'Prevention is always better than a cure'.
